Nine Sutton Students go to Trial
The Verdict: They're the Best!

By Alec A. Belisle

SUTTON - Nine American Government students from Sutton High School have been to court twice in the last few weeks. Both times they won their case. No! these students weren't being tried; they were representing the principals of the case. What's even more unusual about their victories is that, at one trial, they were representing the defendant, and, at the other trial, they were representing the plaintiff.

Acting as a team, the students are participating, for the first time, in the statewide 1990 Mock Trial Tournament sponsored by the Massachusetts Bar Association and are now the Worcester County Champions. They are presently preparing for their next competition on Wednesday, April 4 at the Concord District Court, most likely against the Essex County Champions.

The Sutton team is made up of Jennifer Maynard, Erin Courtney, Jennifer Buffone, Paula Briggs, Heidi Sjogren, Christopher Paradise, Alicia Szydlik, Kurt Martin, all seniors, and Jason Perry, the only junior on the team. David Muradian, an American Government teacher, is the dynamo behind these thoughtful and determined young people who were chosen from among the four american government classes. The students were selected because of their willingness to expend the time and effort necessary for the competition. They are coached by Attorney Gerald Shugrue of Whitinsville for whom these young people have developed enormous respect and affection.

Muradian explained that the competition involves trying an actual case before a "genuine" judge, in a real courtroom. To date, the Sutton team defeated the Tantasqua Regional team at the Spencer District Courtroom where the students defended the plaintiff, and, last Wednesday, they defeated the St. John's High School team in the Worcester Juvenile Court with Judge J. Louis Perez presiding. At this trial, the students defended the defendant.

Muradian explained the process. All participants are given the case. The case scenario, which is the same for all teams, is an interesting and complex issue dealing with a contemporary problem. It has to do with the plight of a twelve year old (no sex is given in the case study, but the Sutton team has chosen the sex of the victim) who has hemophilia. As part of her treatment she received transfusions, one of which was contaminated by the AIDS virus. She has tested HIV positive, meaning that she carries the virus though she does not have AIDS at this time.

Her physician told the A/B student that she could attend school, but with limitations. The child has a history of fighting, and during two fights she bit her adversary. She was allowed to return to school if she promised not to fight or to bite anyone.

For a time, everything went well. One day, schoolmates overheard a conversation between the school nurse discussing her condition with the physical education teacher. During the conversation, it was mentioned that the girl was a carrier of the virus. Those who overheard transmitted this information to others and, as a consequence, her classmates ridiculed and ostracized her.

Distraught, the student confided her problem to her mother who sought some remedy from the administration. Two weeks later, there was an altercation between the student and one of her classmates in which the infected student was alleged to have threatened to bite her opponent.

After another meeting with the administration, the student was not allowed to attend school though she was provided with tutors so that she could continue her education.

Her mother sought a preliminary injunction against the school board to allow her daughter to return to classes. The school asked that the court uphold their actions.

Muradian explained that the nine students work as a team, taking on a variety of different roles: making opening statements, direct questioning, cross examination, re-direct questioning, and closing arguments. While some students have attorney related roles, others have witness roles during which they are called to testify as mother, expert witness, school board member, etc., depending which side they are on.

During an interview with the team, most stated that they prefer to represent the defendant.

"I like being a witness better than an attorney," Jason Perry said.

Jennifer Maynard echoed his sentiments adding, "You can act more as a witness than as a lawyer. When I played Sandy Carter (the name given to the victim's mother) I had to put myself in the mother's shoes. I had to be very emotional," she said.

Everyone admitted to being very nervous even though they have spent endless hours at school and at the home of Muradian practicing and refining their roles before the competition.

"All of the credit goes to the kids," Muradian repeated several times during the interview, "because of the time and effort they've put into the project." He explained that students would meet at the high school or at his home on the weekends for long hours, "some nights as late as 11 o'clock," he said. "And Gerry Shugrue was with them all the time!"

Four 37 Elm St. Permits Denied on 3-2 Vote

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - Two public hearings occupied much of the March 12 Planning Board meeting. All board members were present: Chairwoman Anna Lewandowski, Ann Kniskern, Terry Burke-Dotson, Lillian Moore, and Arthur Moore. Also present was Town Planner David Hulseberg.

322 Millbury Avenue

The board continued a public hearing on the application of Stanley Tabor for a multi-family special permit for property at 322 Millbury Avenue. Attorney Peter Keenan represented Tabor. Tabor sought to change a six room apartment to two 3-room apartments and to add a four room apartment in a barn at the rear of the property.

Keenan told the board that his client was asking the Planning Board to grant a special permit subject to his obtaining a variance from the ZBA.

"Generally variances are received and we work at it from there," Lewandowski responded.

"I really anticipated that this board, being the special permit granting authority for multi-family uses, of the two would be the most critical and would provide the most input in the process," Keenan said.

"We cannot give any approval contingent on their recommending it. We can make a recommendation but we can't give any approval until it goes to them first and then comes to us," Lewandowski said.

"You can grant your approval subject to the grant of the variance," Keenan said.

"I personally have questions about doing that," Lewandowski said. "We've done that on a couple of things in the past and it's come back to haunt us."

Lillian Moore questioned why the applicant was not told to go before the ZBA first.

"Peter (Keenan) and I discussed this issue at some length," Hulseberg told Moore. "You can't force an applicant to go to one board before they go to another. They can lay their cards out to whoever they want first."

Board member Terry Burke Dotson said her major concern was the lack of sewerage at that location. "Allowing a multi-family to go through without sewerage could set a precedent," she argued.

We The People...

Urges "Yes" Vote on Proposed By-Law

To the Editor:

There were several reasons why we decided to move to Sutton. We loved the tranquil rural atmosphere of the area and we also were aware of the proposition 2 1/2 override that said to us this town had made a commitment to its children and to its future.

Now this commitment is threatened by the proposal of a power plant. Due to the way the permitting process currently operates in Sutton, this power plant can currently be thrust upon the town by the mere majority vote of the 5 people on the Zoning Board of Appeals, NOT requiring a town vote.

The power plant would put a huge burden on our water supply that most of us depend directly on. There would be unthinkable amounts of oil stored in huge tanks. The smoke stack would loom over Sutton like a dark cloud. The character of this town would be harmed beyond repair. The companies proposing such projects as power plants and incinerators are hitting many of the small towns around us. They must feel we are easy picking and that our permitting processes are easy to obtain. Perhaps they think we will jump at the tax dollars.

We must be able to decide as a town on such projects and therefore I urge all residents to vote for the proposed warrant to the bylaws in May, which would ban power plants. If one of these power plants gets in, how hard will it be for the next project, maybe an incinerator. Is this the type of "light industry" we want here? I think not. This town may receive some tax revenue from this plant, but would the money be worth the risk of having our quality of life irretrievably lost forever.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Fireworks, Truck Exclusion and T&G Top Meeting Agenda

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The March 13 Selectmen's meeting began at 7:00 p.m. with all members present: Chairman Jude Cristo, Roland Lachance, John Donnelly, Donald Gauthier, and Gerry Bleau.

Telegram & Gazette

Chase said he had read an article pertaining to the Telegram & Gazette locating in Millbury at the Latti Farm Industrial Park.

Cristo told his colleagues that he met with Donald Skaggs, vice president of new facilities for the newspaper division of The Chronicle Publishing Co. of San Francisco (owners of the Telegram & Gazette) this afternoon. At some point last evening, Cristo said, they came to a decision on locating in Millbury.

According to Cristo, Skaggs gave him a verbal commitment that they would take care of their own solid waste "in some form or another." He said they will be looking at in-house recycling and do not expect the Town of Millbury to pick up the tab for their solid waste.

Another issue discussed was the matter of the jug handle at the industrial park which Cristo said the T&G hoped would be expedited for the safety of their employees.

Cristo then said that the T&G would be seeking the board's support for a zoning change to allow for a 50 foot structure to serve their printing press needs. (At present the height of 40 feet is the limit in an Industrial II zone.) Cristo said a warrant article for the next town meeting would allow for the height increase.

Cristo then said he was told that the move could generate revenue through taxes of $400,000. He also said the T&G would be meeting with the Sewerage Commissioner's tonight.

Board member Gerry Bleau said the commissioners have some concerns with the type of waste that would be generated by the printing plant and whether it could be handled by the Waste Water Treatment plant. He said the commissioners would be checking with their own consultant on the issue.

Cristo remarked that the T&G's proposed move to the industrial park was a "big plus" for the town and said it may help attract more industry.

Lachance asked if the jug handle was one of the original requirements for the industrial park and questioned what was holding it up. Cristo said it involved property taking which has met with resistance by the property owners. He said the goal now is to get the state to take it by eminent domain.

"The jug handle is supposed to be in place," Lachance said, "It's not. He then asked if there was anything the board could do.

"Send a letter to Gallo (one of the principals in the Industrial Park)," Donnelly replied, "The ball is in his court.

Lachance moved to send a letter to Gallo seeking to expedite the jug handle. The board approved 5-0.

Gauthier said if there was no reply Gallo should be brought in to speak with the board. "We have to keep after him. He will not do it unless everybody pushes him."

Cristo then asked his colleagues for their thoughts on the warrant article for an increase in the building height restrictions in an industrial II zone. Donnelly asked if the article was proposed before the T&G expressed an interest in moving. "Yes," Chase replied. (Discussions on the possibility of the move first occurred in late July, 1989, according to Town Planner Dave Hulseberg. The warrant article was first proposed on February 12, 1990.)

Lachance moved to support the warrant article. The board approved 5-0.

Chase then reported that another issue involves the matter of an acceleration lane at the Latti Farm Industrial Park site along the easterly side of Route 20. He said that an access was being pushed for Wales Street and that the DPW is issuing a temporary access permit.

Budget Review

The board then met with the Finance Committee to review budgets relating to the Municipal Office Building, Insurance, the Center School and the Asa Waters Mansion.

Chase said he went down the list of items in the budgets and shaved them to a minimum. He said that utilities were funded as close as possible to the history of utility use and no lower than that experience. "There is no margin for unforseen circumstances," he said.

Cristo noted that there was a cut in hours for a maintenance person and that there would be two men, one with fewer hours, covering three buildings. He said that the main goal was to try to keep personnel at the same level.

Finance Committee Chairman Tom Clawson asked about telephone costs and if they reflect the police department's new Merlin telephone system. Police Chief Ron Stokowski said there would be reasonable savings with the new system since the billing of $57 per month to the town for 911 would not occur.

Clawson then noted that just about everything in the budget for the Asa Waters Mansion was cut. This past year $700 was budgeted and it is now cut to $400 for next fiscal year.

Lachance asked when the finance committee would be coming forth to reschedule the annual town meeting. Clawson said that the finance committee was not looking to do that. He noted that last year the town meeting was put off to June, and there was no more information available in June.

Clawson asked where the board stood on charging off to the sewer commission portions of fees as well as principal and interest on debt ssince the sewerage department is self-sustaining. He noted that the total for principal and interest was $413,352.50.

Cristo suggested charging off a total of $34,794 for rent, fleet insurance, and workmen's compensation as the larger figure may be too much of a burden for sewer users who would be effected by an increase in rates. He also noted that the board was awaiting information from town counsel on how to handle the billing.

Finance Committee member Joel Green suggested that to charge off such a large amount in the way of user's fees would be in effect an ad hoc tax. "It would be a massive shift to users. It would be better to tell people what we are doing," Green said.

Clawson then asked about a letter pertaining to an Article for the warrant concerning $25,617.64 overspent last summer. "Why wasn't this brought up at a special town meeting," he asked. "Who is holding the invoice?"

Chase said it came from the auditor.

Cristo asked why it came up now. Chase replied that he couldn't recall. Cristo asked what the reason was for the billing. Chase said it was an increase in the rate for insurance.

Finance committee member Steve Choiniere sought clarification of a health insurance bill and asked why it was not on the special town meeting warrant. Chase said the bill is already paid and it is just the appropriation that has to be balanced. Choiniere noted that it could have been paid last year.

Cristo refereed to a savings of $18,000 in the fleet insurance with a reduction of $13,000 in underinsured and uninsured coverage. He also noted that deductibles would be increased to $1,000 for a savings of $5,000.

Underground Storage Tanks

The board met with Fire Chief Tom Nault who was present to report on changes in the underground tank laws which would also pertain to town property. Nault said the town could look at options such as testing the tanks, upgrading them or pulling them out. "I have no bottom line figure," he said. He did note that testing for the highway barn tanks was reimbursable.

Truck Exclusion

Nault then raised a question pertaining to an exclusion of truck traffic in certain areas of the town. He noted that in the center of town the truck traffic situation was not getting any better. He said he recommended that an exclusion bylaw based on poundage be placed on a warrant for a special town meeting.

Lachance suggested a limit of 80,000 pounds.

Nault went on to say there is not only fuel oil but some serious acids and poisons going through the center of town. "It's a bomb ready to go off," he said.

Stokowski argued that the problem of overweight vehicles is statewide. He suggested that the state needs to reevaluate the bridge.

Lachance noted that some trucks are carrying up to 103,000 pounds. "You are charged with a duty," Lachance said.

"Are you saying it's my fault," Stokowski asked.

"No," Lachance replied. "I'm not saying that. You are responsible for enforcing the law. One hundred and three thousand pounds is illegal."

"Weight records are needed for a court of law," Stokowski said, adding, "Where do we send them after we stop them?"

"Send them back," Lachance replied.

"You're painting the chief into a corner," Cristo said.

"Why don't they take Rte. 122?" Lachance asked.

Stokowski suggested that the trucking companies be given a warning that after a designated date the laws will be enforced. He also said that the ban should not be restricted to oil but also to hazardous materials.

Lachance suggested that the poundage be restricted to a limit of 72,000 lbs. which the bridge on Rte. 146 is posted at now.

"The quick fix is for the state not to issue those (overweight) permits." Stokowski said.

Nault said that an 80,000 lb. permit should not be issued for a 72,000 lb. bridge. "There hasn't been any cooperation from the state," he said.

"Advertising may do the trick if you say any vehicle coming off Rte. 146 in excess of 80,000 lbs will be stopped, weighed and tagged," Stokowski said.

Lachance moved that the effective date for tagging be April 1st with a letter to be sent to the appropriate agency at the DPW. The board approved unanimously.

Fireworks

Lachance then raised an issue pertaining to the Lions Club's proposal for three nights of fireworks in town during the July 4th festivities.. He noted that problems arose last year when residents complained that they had difficulty gaining access to their own property because of the heavy traffic.

Nault said that for the last two years the situation has been a "complete debacle." He also said that people called his home. "They were outraged. The town was paralyzed for three nights," Nault said. "We need access through the center of town. The Lions Club promised they would do this and do that. It's been 100% ineffective. There has been no way in or out of the center of town."

Nault also said he wrote to the police chief stating that the fire department needs a guarantee of access to the center of town. "It's a simple request. I need access or no permits," he said. "There have been a lot of promises from the Lions Club but they have not been fulfilled," he said.

"I've had enough of it," Nault said. "If the chief can't guarantee access I will not issue a permit. I'll not put the town in jeopardy. The town is paralyzed for two or three hours each night (of the fireworks). I don't think it's worth it."

Cristo, who is also a member of the Lions Club, said a middle ground should be reached with the Club.

"We tried for a middle ground," Stokowski said. "We came up here to you with them; they backtracked."

Lachance then said that he would back the fire chief if he decides not to issue any permits.

Gauthier agreed. "The board should take a stand - no more fireworks."

Donnelly said he too agreed with the two chiefs. He noted that the board had the Lions Club in here before and they made all kinds of promises. "I don't want to be a bad guy," he said. "If we can't do it safely, I don't think we should have fireworks."

Stokowski noted that the Lions Club has tried in some areas. "With my efforts and the town's efforts we can't control something like that. This year was beyond control."

"One night may be the key to a solution," Cristo said.

"I need access," Nault said. "If not, I'll put an article on the next warrant."

Cristo concluded the discussion by suggesting that both chiefs express their various concerns in a meeting with the Lions Club.

Leave Time

The board voted down a motion to grant Sgt. Glen Parath leave time to attend a union conference. It was noted that his attendance at such conferences was approved in the past. Lachance cited the need for paying someone time and a half as a reason for voting against the request. Donnelly said that since it would require overtime pay and the money is critical, he could not support the request.

Cristo noted that he was in error when he told Parath he thought the board had gone along with the request at the last meeting. He said minutes of the last meeting could not show that a vote was taken.

Correspondence

Letters were received from the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), Hazardous Waste Division, citing minor violations in the identification of hazardous materials and waste locations at Polyclad Laminates, Providence Road, and Coppus Engineering, Latti Farm Industrial Park.

A letter was also received from Wyman Gordon's listing the chemicals in the workplace as required under the "Right to Know" regulations.

DEADLINE

The deadline for ALL submissions to the Millbury-Sutton Chronicle is noon on Saturday of the week prior to publication.

Millbury Youth Football Registration

MILLBURY - The Millbury Raiders football team will hold registration on Saturday, April 7, from 9-12 at the Town Hall. The registration fee is $30.

Youths between the ages of 11 and 12 as of September 1, 1990, and weighing 110 lbs. or less are eligible to play. All money raised by registration will be used to purchase uniforms.

Organizers said that, because of the interest being shown for this program, it is very important that anyone interested in playing attend this registration. This may be the only registration for the 1990 season. If you have any questions, contact Mr. Nadeau at 752-1752.

Jim Morin, owner of the St. Charles Hotel, presents Wayne Nadeau with a check to help kick off the Millbury Youth Football Program.

Photography Exhibit

MILLBURY - From March 27 to April 7, the Millbury Public Library will hold its first juried community Photography exhibit featuring the works of photographers in the Millbury and surrounding communities. A reception will mark the beginning of the exhibit on March 27 from 6:30 to 7:30.

St. Mary's to Present 'Peter Pan'

WORCESTER - St. Mary's High School , 50 Richland Street, will present the musical "Peter Pan" March 23, 24, and 25 at 7:00 p.m. Tickets are $5.00 for adults and $3.50 for children 12 and under. For ticket information, call 753-1170.

Rabies Clinic

MILLBURY - The Millbury Board of Health will sponsor a rabies clinic on april 7 at the Elm Street fire station. Dogs will be taken from 10-11 a.m. and cats from 11-11:30 a.m. Shots are $6.00. All animals must be restrained. The public is also asked not to bring cats and dogs at the same time.

Minister Appointed

GRAFTON - Sunday, March 25, will be an important day in the life of the Union Congregational Church of South Grafton as they welcome Howard C. DeVries who will preach his first sermon as the new minister of the church at the 11:00 a.m. morning worship service.

Mr. DeVries is the son of Nicholas and the late Jennie DeVries of Whitinsville. He graduated from Northbridge High School in 1962 and was a member of North Uxbridge Baptist Church for many years.

He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in Biology from Barrington College, Barrington, R.I. in 1966 and his Master of Divinity Degree from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary in 1986. He has also attended Westminster Theological Seminary and the University of Rhode Island.

Mr. DeVries has had a varied work career, having held positions as a teacher, a sales-service representative, a construction worker and a self-employed carpenter. He has been the minister of the Candor Congregational Church in Candor, N.Y. since 1987.

Mrs. DeVries, Marlene E. (Meredith), is originally from Davenport, Iowa. She has an Art Education degree from Glassboro State College, Glassboro, N.J. and was a New Jersey certified teacher. She now spends much of her time taking care of son Matthew James, who will be three on July 3, and assisting her husband in his work. The DeVries have been married almost eight years, having met in a church in Turnersville, N.J.

Valley Tech Automotive Technicians Sweep Competition

UPTON - For the third consecutive year, the Automotive Technology Department at Blackstone Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School has earned qualifying berths for the State vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) Competition to be held April 1-3 on Cape Cod.

Winners in the Automotive Service Technology were: Gold Medal, John Pignataro, a senior from Sutton; Silver Medal, Keith Talbot, a senior from Sutton; Bronze Medal, Roy Amador, a junior from Mendon.

Winners in Automotive Machine Shop were: Gold Medal, Jamie Woolridge, a sophomore from Uxbridge; Bronze Medal, Peter Nikolajevs, a junior from Millbury; and State Qualifier, Randy Joiner, a senior from Mendon.

These students will now compete in a comprehensive, hands-on, all-day test against the best vocational automotive technicians from over 30 vocational technical high schools, where they can earn scholarships and prizes.

Student Advisory Council Representatives

MILLBURY - Kevin Hanson and Kristine Jones have been elected by the student body of Millbury Memorial High School to be Millbury High's representatives to the Student Advisory Council to the State Board of Education.

Kevin is the son of Mrs. Susan Hanson of 88 MacArthur Drive and Kristine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jones of 122 Millbury Avenue.

Committee to Deal with Issues Related to Grade 7 Move

MILLBURY - The first meeting of Millbury High School's committee to deal with issues related to moving grade 7 into the High School structure will be held on Monday, March 26, at 7:00 p.m. in the High School Library.

High School Principal Daniel Carmody will present the plan for the physical setting for grades 7 and 8 at this meeting. Following the presentation, parents will have an opportunity to select one of the sub-committees (discipline, attendance, social issues and athletics).

Lenten Service

GRAFTON - The fourth in the series of Lenten services at the Union Congregational Church of South Grafton will feature Dr. Raiford Claxton of Whitinsville on March 25 at 7 p.m.

Claxton, who operates a local animal clinic, is a native of Georgia and has served as a veterinary missionary in South America. He has also taught at several South American universities. He will be sharing his experiences as a veterinary missionary.

Preschool Story Hour

MILLBURY - Starting Wednesday, March 27 at 10:00 a.m., the Millbury Public Library, 128 Elm Street, will hold preschool story hour registration. Register your preschooler, ages 3-5, for either the Wednesday or Thursday story hour session. Story hour will be held on eight consecutive weeks starting Wednesday, April 4 and Thursday, April 5, both from 10:30-11:30 a.m. Registration must be done in person. For more information, call 865-1181.

FY'91 School Department Budget up $384,015

By Edward J. Cooney

SUTTON - The Sutton School Committee held its monthly meeting on March 12. Chairman Andrew Smith called the meeting to order at 7:00 p.m.

Budget

Superintendent Gordon Spence presented a brief statement concerning the FY '90 budget. He said he has moved from a position of "guardedly optimistic" to "guardedly pessimistic" back to "guardedly optimistic." "We should be okay with a couple of breaks in the areas of fuel, transportation and special needs tuition. I think things are a little better than when the last report was issued to you on January 29th," Spence said.

He then informed the committee that the Board of Selectmen will place an article on the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting asking that a sum of $17,000 be turned over to the school department budget.

Spence also reported that money for fuel is just about gone. He said that a guess estimate of 100,000 was used and presently 80,000 gallons have been used up. "It will depend on the weather as we go through to May," he said.

Spence then moved on to an FY'91 budget document. He said it is a working document and will be such right up to the town meeting.

Handouts showed the impact on the schools as a result of state aide cuts. Sutton is down about 11% with state reimbursements for transportation down about 40%. Spence said one bright spot was that Equal Educational Opportunity Funds are level funded at $128,000.

Spence and the committee then briefly reviewed those areas where changes were made. The budget prepared for consideration by the Finance Committee totals $4,499,895, an increase of $384,015 over last year's budget of $4,115,880. He noted that the $4.1M budget is not final until the books are closed at the end of June. He said it is difficult to compare budgets as one looks at what is recommended, what one ends up with, and what the actual expenditures are.

Spence then reported that in the FY '91 budget, $25,000 is included for a Special Ed Teacher which is reflected in the budget as a new position. A nurse's aide position, also reflected in the budget, hopefully will be funded by a grant, Spence said. According to the budget calculations, salaries account for 75.48% of the budget.

School Committeewoman Elizabeth Bacon asked about the salary budgeted for the Special Ed teacher position.

Spence said the $25,000 funded for that position would allow for flexibility as a master's degree would be required which would be equal to a 4th year teacher. He said he had no one in mind for the position. He also said that interviews would not take place until the town meeting so the committee would know where things are in relation to the budget.

Bacon asked about any tuition that the town may receive. Spence estimated that the town would receive approximately $35,000 in tuition as four students would be coming from another town. He also said that the figure could go up to $45,000 to $50,000 which would reduce the amount of money to be appropriated by the town.

Bacon then asked about the possibility of hiring another music teacher. Spence said he was confident that there would be sufficient funds to have a music teacher for 1/2 instrumental and 1/2 chorus if the committee could stick with this budget.

He also said that non-tenured teachers would be notified prior to April 15th that their contracts would not be renewed (By law, teachers must be notified by April 15th if they are not going to be rehired. This does not necessarily mean that any or all teachers notified will be terminated.)

"I guess we would not look to eliminate the music teacher," Spence said. He then noted that everyone realizes that notification of non renewal of contracts will occur. "The principals will come up with a list and recommendations," he said.

Spence then asked if he should send the budget information on to the finance committee. "They might as well have it," Chairman Andrew Smith replied. "The more they know now, the better."

Spence said that in presenting the budget to the finance Committee the bottom line is that Sutton gets an Equal Education Opportunity because it failed to spend 85% of the state average per pupil cost. "Sutton's budget (school) has to be supplemented," he said.

Bacon then asked which accounts showed a decrease. Spence replied that he did not have all of them in his head but noted that some accounts showed decreases of "$100 here, $100 there and in some instances, $200 in cuts." He then suggested that the committee take a rest from reviewing the budget and asked for consideration of three addenda items.

Appointments

On a 5-0 vote the committee approved the building principals' recommendations for appointments to the School Improvement Council. Carol Robbins was appointed for the secondary level and Paul Marrone for the Elementary level.

The committee unanimously approved the appointment of Jan Bouley as softball coach and Mary Canty to the Land Use Committee.

Department Updates

Bacon asked the committee to consider having departments in the high school come in to update the committee on where their departments are going. Spence said that would be no problem and he would keep that in mind for future meetings.

Mock Trial

Spence then referred to the participation of Sutton High School students in a mock trial competition. He noted that Attorney Gerald Shugrue had generously given of his time to coach the students along with high school teacher David Muradian.

Spence told the committee that the Sutton team won their 1st two competitions, beating Tantasqua Regional High School 80 to 78 and St. John's High 75-62. "I am very proud of them," he said.

Muradian said this was the first time Sutton High School students had participated in the competition. If the students win the next mock trial competition, they will be two steps away from the finals. Muradian noted that the students have spent many hours preparing for the competition.

Following the viewing of several scenes of a video tape of the competition with St. John's, the students and advisors, along with the school committee, adjourned to the cafeteria to celebrate with pizza "and."

On The Shelf

By Rosemary Waltos

All through the year, people drop off used books at the Millbury Public Library. while most of these go into our Friends of the Millbury Public Library Book Sale, an annual fund raising event of the library, we carefully cull through everyone's donations looking for books that can be added to our collection. People like Kathleen Tighe, Dr. Jozefowski, William Pratt, Barbara Whittier, Mrs. Rudnickas to name a few, have donated first rate, almost brand new books that we have happily added to our collection. The Singletary Rod and Gun Club has donated both used and new additions as well.

A few weeks ago the Millbury Public Library sent out a plea for donations of young adult classics that are normally found on middle grade and highschool reading lists. Several people responded to our request. Others were encouraged to make cash donations and donations of new hardcover titles for our adult collections as well.

People donating money to the library usually leave the selection of specific titles up to us, although they sometimes specify subject areas that they would like purchases to be made in. For instance, after our request for young adult classics, the Women's V.F.W. Auxiliary donated $100 for paperback copies of books for high school students. Local artist Michael Graves and art instructor Kathy Williams have made donations toward our art collections for adults and children. Baptist Minister Rev. Raeburn Cameron donated a bible concordance. Last year, the McArdle family donated a subscription of Massachusetts Wildlife magazine.

The library is the recipient of memorial gifts in memory of people in the Millbury community who have passed away. In the past, we have received memorials large enough to establish trust funds for the library. Most recently, we have received donations in memory of Virginia Lacouture from Rosemary Norton for children's books; Millbury Women's Club donated books in memory of Lillian Sheehan and Erma Svenson, and Spag's Supply Company donated gardening books in memory of Dora E. Allaire.

These are just a few examples of the generosity of the community towards the Millbury Public Library. We would like to take the time here to thank all of those mentioned above as well as the other people, organizations and companies who have given so generously to us in the past. As you can guess, this type of giving is increasingly more important to the services we provide to the community.

The library's material budget covers expenditures for all print and non-print materials added to its collection. This current fiscal year, the library suffered cuts to its materials' budget. These cuts are nothing compared to the severe cuts we will be facing in our materials budget in the next fiscal year that starts in July. This makes your donations even more important to help us keep up with the community's increasing demand for library materials and services.

If you would like to help us in our efforts to keep our shelves stocked with quality reading, listening and viewing materials for children, teens and adults, please consider making a donation to the library's collection. For information on how to do this, simply call us at 865-1181.

UPCOMING PROGRAMS AND EVENTS

Food Distribution in Sutton

SUTTON - The Sutton Council on Aging will hold a second surplus Food Distribution for those who did not receive this benefit at the last distribution. Foods will be distributed on Friday, March 23 from 11-2 at the Sutton Town Hall, lower level, rear.

For more information contact the Sutton Council on Aging office at 865-9798 or 865-1602.

Scholarships Available

MILLBURY - The Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of Millbury, also known as "Dollars for Scholars," awards scholarships to Millbury students who are already in college as well as to high school seniors. Since many college students are away from home, parents are urged to get applications and forward them to the students. Applications are available at the Whitney Insurance Agency, 112 Elm Street, Millbury. The deadline for filing applications for college students is April 20, 1990.

WORCESTER - A group of young, talented basketball players from Southern Worcester County won the Junior Division Championship in the Worcester Girls Club basketball program recently. The all-girl team, comprised of 4th, 5th, and 6th graders, went undefeated in their nine game schedule, averaging 30 points per game.

Six of the eight member squad hail from Millbury and Sutton: Amanda Beaudoin, Brenda Crehan, Kathleen Doherty, Millbury; Sheryl Austin, Kristin Kerins, Kathleen Kerins, Sutton. Rounding out the team are Laura Lewandowski and Diane Masse of Worcester.

The championship team is coached by three former basketball players: Tim Kerins, Theresa Ledgard, and Cheryl Lewandowski. Head coach Tim Kerins also teachers physical education at the Shaw Middle School in Millbury.

The season will culminate with an awards banquet on April 3 at the Worcester Elks Club on Mill Street. All girls who participated in the Girls Club basketball program receive a trophy in honor of their dedication and hard work.

Happy 75th Birthday!

Ethel and Norman Army, Tammy Army, Irene Army, Donald Girouard, and Norma Girouard.

MILLBURY - Approximately 75 family members and friends gathered to help celebrate Irene Army's 75th birthday on Sunday, March 18. The party, held at the Charles F. Minney VFW Post in Millbury, was organized by Mrs. Army's daughter Norma, her son Norman, and his wife Ethel.

Purgatory to Open with Reduced Staff

By Alec Belisle

SUTTON. The Board of Selectmen met at its regularly scheduled time on March 13 with all members present: Chairman Rick LaBonte, Wallace Johnson, Mike Chizy, Carl Licopoli, and Mary K. Connor.

Safety Improvements on Rte. 146

Town Administrator Dexter Blois reported that he received a letter from the state concerning safety improvements along Rt. 146. According to Blois, although the letter did not state it specifically, he feels a flashing light will be placed on the top of the hill travelling South along Rt. 146 before the intersection of Boston Road.

Purgatory Chasm Summer Operations

Blois said he received a letter from Don Stoddard, Regional Forest and Park Supervisor, regarding the staffing of Purgatory Chasm this summer. "Basically they plan to staff it with two full time people," he said. "It's questionable whether any summer part time people will be employed."

According to the letter, the state plans to offer "minimal acceptable levels of operation at Purgatory Chasm." The letter also said that because of the reduction in staff, unauthorized fire rings will be removed and authorized fireplaces will be improved. In addition, problem forest access roads and trails will be blocked by gates or steel cable barriers. The state will try to accomplish this over the spring and early summer.

Community Reading Day

Selectwoman Mary K. Connor advised the board of correspondence received from Elementary School Principal Beverly Brown who invited town officials and interested residents to participate in a Community Reading Day on Wednesday, April 11 between 10 and 11:30. Anyone interested can contact Brown.

Preparation for Earth Day

Connor also announced that the Nature Trail Committee of the PTA is sponsoring a clean up on Saturday, April 7. This is in preparation for Earth Day which will occur on Sunday, April 22. She said a variety of activities are planned from 1:00 to 4:00 at the Sutton Elementary School. This is also the day of the Little League Parade.

Snow Removal Budget

Blois advised the board that the town has exceeded the snow removal budget by $5,900. He said that statute requires that the board of selectmen and the finance committee agree that it is permitted to spend beyond the appropriation. Board member Mike Chizy moved to approve the appropriation. It passed unanimously.

Appointments

Blois reported that Bill Pepka has been appointed to fill a position held by Martha Cole on the Board of Appeals.

In a related matter, Connor remarked that the names of only five members of the Board of Appeals appear in the minutes. She asked if those members not listed were absent or if the minutes merely reflected the number voting. She said that she felt that all members should make an effort to attend all the meetings.

Blois agreed. He said that if for some reason a voting member cannot make a meeting at which a vote must be taken, an alternate may vote, but only if they were present for the discussion.

Blois asked the board if they wanted to establish a policy for handling appointments. He explained that last year he sent out individual letters to notify people that their term would be expiring. He also advised the chairman of each committee which of their members would be coming up for appointment.

The board discussed whether they should post the positions even though it is not required. "I wouldn't want it to be perceived that we were out looking for someone to replace them," Board Chairman Rick LaBonte said. "It's just a policy to post positions that are to be filled."

The board decided to continue with the practice described by Blois.

Budgets

The selectmen then began systematically working their way through a three inch thick binder containing all of the budgets. According to Blois, the figures being presented were not necessarily the final figures but were a good approximation.

Assumption School News

By Grace Laflash

The annual Assumption School open house will be held on Sunday, April 8, from 2-4 p.m. Sister Bernadette Sweeney, Principal, extends an invitation to all to attend.

The parents of first and second graders are invited to visit the Writing to Read Lab and enjoy the stories and books the children have created. There will be students at the IBM computers. On display will be poems and story books that the enrichment pupils in grades 2-4 have published using the "Newsroom" and "Once Upon a Time" software.

Grades 3 and 4 will be demonstrating their Logo programs and word processing skills in the Apple Computer Lab. Basic and graphic programs will be shown by students in grades 5 to 8. Several of the children's printouts will be posted for viewing as well as science fiction stories seventh

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

"I believe in the Holy Catholic Church" - When I was a race track chaplain I was often asked if I were a priest, and my response would be that I was a priest in the Holy Catholic Church. It is a thrill to be a part of the universal or "catholic" church.

The Church of Jesus Christ is everywhere and I often receive letters from some of our missionaries in various parts of the world. One recently came from a family who is working with the Summer Institute of Linguistics. They go to people who have no written language, learn that language, develop it into writing, and then teach the people to read. Their ultimate goal is to put the Holy Scriptures into that language.

Another missionary letter came from a young lady in Central America where there is much trouble. She is caught between the government forces and the rebel forces, and she raises the question of where she stands as a Christian. She is there in the Name of the Prince of Peace and wants to bring about reconciliation and help the people of that country.

The other day I was visiting a local hospital and the nurses were parading around with their strike signs. I had to repulse an instinct to go up to one of them and ask what they wanted me to do. Strikes to me are very frustrating as there are so many issues involved. For the life of me I cannot understand why baseball players who make in the millions of dollars are on strike.

Our God is the great reconciler and has even sent us His Son, Jesus Christ, to reconcile the world unto Himself and has given us the ministry of reconciliation. During this Lenten Season the cross is very prominent in our thinking and it seems that taking up a cross is what we are all about as Christians. As a fellow pastor shared with us, it is the "New Rugged Cross," not just to celebrate the death of Jesus many years ago, but to make the cross our lifestyle as well. Amen.

"You can't blame the man because the sewerage doesn't go by his house," said Arthur Moore.

Lewandowski noted that the area in question "is probably one of the most important recharge areas in town."

"In reducing it to 2 3-room units you're going to have a lessening of the usage on the septic system," Keenan argued. "I think the net effect is going to be negligible, if any. The board of health has told Mr. Tabor that the system will manage it."

"All that septic system is doing is dumping sewerage into the aquifer, the only aquifer that's a feasible one here in Millbury at this time," Dotson said. "I don't think it would be responsible for us to say go ahead and do it. Should the sewer line ever come by then you have the right to go ahead and plug into it."

Arthur Moore made a motion to approve the multi-family special permit. His motion was seconded by Lillian Moore. The vote was 3-2 against the motion and the permit was denied.

Following the vote, board member Ann Kniskern told Tabor, "This is our major aquifer. At some point we have to protect this area. Water is a very precious resource and I think we have to think about it now. We do have to worry about tomorrow."

Planner's Update

Prior to moving on to the second hearing of the evening, Hulseberg updated the board on a number of issues, including the following:

- Goretti's Market - filing this week for their expansion.
- Massachusetts Electric filing for floodplain permit for an expansion at various sites throughout the town.
- 19 North Main filing for site plan review, multi-family permit and reduced parking permit.
- Salo Heights off Elmwood Street - The builder, Domicile, is under a Cease and Desist Order until their performance bond is in place.
- Hayward Glen - accepting bids to complete the subdivision. Hulseberg reported that all the granite curbing being stored at the site has "disappeared." He said the bank holding the bond is aware of who took the material.

"Right now Vanguard Savings Bank has been understanding in accepting the fact that we are pulling the bond and they have not fought us at all," Hulseberg said.

- The town's Groundwater Resource Evaluation & Aquifer Protection Plan is now complete. A copy of the plan will be available at the library.

37 Elm Street

At 8:30 a public hearing was held on the application of Francis Venincasa of Casa Builders for property located at 37 Elm Street. The applicant was seeking:

1. Multifamily Special Permit for four (4) additional apartments
2. Site Plan Review
3. Reduced Parking
4. Special Density provisions.

Steven Venincasa, son of the applicant, began the discussion by noting that the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) had denied Casa Builders' request for a special permit. He said his permit was denied by the ZBA because of insufficient parking.

Venincasa then asked the board, "Are you going against the board of appeals if you give me reduced parking or site plan approval or anything I've asked for?"

"First of all," Lewandowski replied, "you don't have a conforming building. The variance was denied by the ZBA. If you don't have the variances we can't grant them for you."

"If you can't approve me I should get my money back and I'll leave," Venincasa said. "I was unaware that I could not get approval from this board tonight. Is it possible that I could get approval at all?" he asked.

"I don't know if the rest of the board could vote for it," Lewandowski said, "but I could not vote for it. You don't have the variances."

Board member Ann Kniskern, agitated that the petitioner appeared to be placing the blame on the town, told Venincasa, "You come here and you're bent out of shape with the ZBA and you're bent out of shape with us and you're bent out of shape with David (Hulseberg). Steve," she said, "you went ahead and built something that you never told anybody you were going to build. You didn't build according to the building permit, you didn't build according to your plan. You just threw up three stories. And you're annoyed at us. We didn't do that. I didn't go down there and add three stories to your building without a permit or a variance."

"I'm not annoyed at you, Anne," Venincasa replied. "I'm annoyed at some of the policies. I'm not perfect but that doesn't mean I can't throw stones because I see inconsistencies, and I'm merely bringing them up and I want to clarify them."

Lewandowski countered, "If anyone has been inconsistent, it's been the Venincasa family. We have had inconsistencies in every single plan that we've had before us. There hasn't been one of them that's been followed according to the way we originally stipulated."

"I differ from that," Venincasa replied.

Lewandowski then asked Venincasa, "Tell me which one has been followed exactly the way it was stipulated according to the conditions and according to the way the plans were presented to us. The board is here for checks and balances. We have zoning laws we go by."

"You knew I was coming here for reduced parking and yet the ZBA had to deny me because of parking," Venincasa said.

"They can deny you for whatever reason they want," Lewandowski said. "And the fact that you have to file here, that's again your privilege. You could have chosen not to file here until you had gone through all your special permits."

Lewandowski then noted that Venincasa had told the ZBA that he anticipated leasing parking spaces from A&D Pizza across the street. "You had nothing in writing. We get things in dribble all the time. We wanted something in writing. Do you have anything?" she asked.

"No, I don't," Venincasa replied. He then said he had no idea that being denied by one board would automatically mean a denial by another board. "Maybe we shouldn't have applied for your permits until we had the ZBA's," he said.

Hulseberg noted that a letter to Venincasa dated September 20, 1989 listed a flow chart on the procedures he should follow. "I would suggest that the developer is extremely familiar with the way the building processes and procedures are," Hulseberg said.

Venincasa again asked, "If you're not going to approve this because it was denied by the ZBA, then why continue?"

"We have to go through the process," Lewandowski replied.

"Am I able to get an approval, not will you approve it, is it possible for me to get approval?" Venincasa asked.

"Yes," Lewandowski replied.

Hulseberg then explained, "The applicant has the right to appeal the ZBA's decision in court provided it was done within the 20 day appeal period. If he did not make that application within the 20 day appeal

"He (Muradian) must have cooked 100 bags of (microwave) popcorn," Erin Courtney volunteered. She went on to say that Muradian, who sports a dapper mustache, has agreed to shave off his mustache if the team wins the competition.

Muradian's gratitude and praise for the time and effort that Attorney Shugrue has expended was reinforced by the students in a chorus of competing voices thanking Shugrue for all that he has done. Muradian explained that beside practicing with the students, Shugrue even had a case of his postponed so that he could be with them during one of the competitions. At the last competition, Shugrue treated the team to a meal at Northworks, a gesture that the whole team appreciated by reciting the list of delicacies ordered. The sincerity of their affection for Shugrue was made manifest in Heidi Sjogren's spontaneous comment, "I want him to come to our prom and things," she said, as the other members of the team chimed in favoring her suggestion.

The competition, which Muradian explained was suggested to him by Superintendent Gordon Spence and High School Principal Ed Grant, has valid educational benefits. Kurt Martin said he has developed a respect for the law, and Erin Courtney explained that she has learned a great deal about speaking in front of an audience. Apart from this, Muradian explained that the project develops the students' analytical reasoning skills as well as their communication skills. The participants also learn to work as a team developing their own roles and helping their fellow teammates fine hone their presentations by making and taking suggestions. Since their roles are not always the same from trial to trial, the team members learn to adjust and adapt to a variety of situations.

Muradian also said that the students' creativity emerges in their roles as each one seeks to make their presentations more effective and persuasive. He gave as an example Kurt Martin whose role it was to make the opening statement. During the statement, Martin took his watch and, in a dramatic gesture, struck it on the table breaking it. He looked up and asked, "What do you do if your watch breaks? You fix the parts that are broken and then put it back to work." Muradian said that during the grading portion of the competition, the judge commented on how effective this action was and how it contributed to the overall victory of the team.

The students have benefitted in other ways from the competition. Before the Worcester competition, the students went to Superior Court to observe a trial in progress. Wilkinsonville resident, John F. O'Connor, who is assistant clerk in charge of criminal proceedings in superior court arranged to have the team witness a drug case involving Auburn and Millbury. Patrick King, the justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court, let the students be the jury on the case. Though the judge decided the case independently of the students, he allowed them to deliberate the verdict and see all of the exhibits. The team was thrilled with the experience, even though their verdict was split.

Muradian said the students, administration and staff of the school have been very supportive of the students. "The superintendent and principal have bent over backwards to help us," he said. He also noted that Superintendent Spence arranged for the team to eat at The Spencer Country Inn after their victory, and said Spence and Grant have been generous in granting the team time for the competitions.

"It's (the competition) has been great for the school, too," Muradian said. "The students are behind us and they're proud of what the team has done. It's been an uplifting experience for us all."

The nine members of the team, most of whom are honors students, athletes, student government members and involved in a variety of school related activities, are learning important lessons which they will carry with them throughout their lives. Heidi Sjogren, Chris Paradise, and Erin Courtney are inclined to pursue a career in law. Jennifer Maynard has decided she would not like to be a lawyer. "I'd be too disappointed if I lost (a case)," she admitted. More than learning about law and themselves, though, they are giving Sutton High School and the town of Sutton just one more reason to be proud of their community.

Manchaug Residents Form Committee to Restore Field

Standing on the basketball court, in front of the athletic field are (l-r): Ross Weaver, Irene Berube, Phil Berube, Jean LeClaire, Chairman of the committee, and Selectman Rick LaBonte. Missing from the picture is Mike Couture.

SUTTON - A group of Manchaug residents have formed a committee to raise funds necessary to restore the field and basketball court at the American Legion Post 390 Veteran's Memorial Athletic Field. The field, which the post rents to the town for $1 a year, has fallen into disrepair. Vehicles travelling over the field and parking on the apron to the field have gouged deep ruts. The blacktop of the basketball court is cracked and broken in places.

Labonte said the committee's priority is to upgrade the field for baseball and soccer. The field is under the control of the Recreation Committee. Members are eager to provide recreation for the children of the area who find it difficult to access most of the recreational facilities in and around Sutton Center.

Fund raisers will be held so that, in addition to upgrading the field, fences can be put up around the field and playground equipment can be placed to allow some recreation for younger children while their older siblings are competing in baseball or soccer. The centerpiece of the fund raising project will be a free week at the Cape Cod cottage of Joan and Dick Rafferty which will be raffled off at the end of the summer.

Phil Berube underscored the urgency of the project because work slated to be done on the school athletic fields will take those fields out of operation. The Manchaug field will become increasingly more important because of that, he said.

The committee is seeking the community's support. Anyone interested in helping out with this project can contact Jean LeClaire.

Joubert to Run for Planning Board and Board of Health

MILLBURY - Edward A. Joubert, 23 Wales Street, has announced his candidacy for Planning Board and also for Board of Health.

He is an Air Force veteran of the Vietnam War and is employed by the U.S. Postal Service as a Mail Processing Machine Mechanic.

In announcing his candidacy Joubert said, "I am running for public office because after being a Millbury resident for 25 years I feel that it is time to give back to the town and its people, for all that it has given my family and I. I would like to try to make a difference and I promise that I will be a representative of the people, not businesses and contractors."

Joubert also said he is proud to be a member of the newly-formed Recreation Committee and looks forward to working with the other members in making suggestions for "a total in-town recreation plan."

Joubert is married to the former Noreen Rogers, a lifelong resident of Millbury. They have one child, Edward Jr., who will be married in September when they celebrate their Silver Wedding Anniversary.

Sclar to Run for Selectman

MILLBURY - Hy J. Sclar, of 15 Manor Road, a former selectman, has announced his candidacy for a three-year term on the Board of Selectmen. He was elected to the board in 1967, 1970, and 1973, and is a former chairman of the board.

Sclar said that during his years as a selectman he worked to obtain a federal grant for sewers for the town. He also said that as Chairman of the Redevelopment Authority he worked for the rezoning of areas in town to industrial and business.

"As a member of Kiwanis," Sclar said, "I was able to put an article on the town warrant selling approximately 30 acres of land and beach property at Brierly Pond for the sum of $1.00."

Sclar has also served as the co-chairman of Lights for Windle Field, a member of the Department of Public Works Study Committee and the Dorothy Pond Restoration Committee. He also said he placed an article on the warrant to change street lighting throughout the town.

Sclar is a notary public. He was chairman of the Easter Seals March of Dimes and the Millbury Blood Drive. He is a member of the American Legion Vernon Hill Post and the Millbury V.F.W. Post.

He is married to the former Doris M. Leary and has four children: Barbara, James, Barry and Wayne.

Candidates, Please Note

The deadline for submitting candidate announcements to the Millbury-Sutton Chronicle for the April 24 Millbury Town election is March 24, 1990. No announcements will be published after the March 29 edition.

The deadline for candidate announcements for the April 28 Sutton Town election is April 5. No candidate announcements for Sutton will be published after the April 5 edition.

Officer Kelley to Address Students

MILLBURY - March is "Medicine and Drug Month" at Elmwood Street School. Millbury Police Officer Gerard Kelley will speak to grades one, two and three about drugs and safety on March 23 from 9-11:45 and on March 26 from 12:15-2:30.

Local people waiting to vote on local issues that affect themselves and their neighbors.

Financial institutions face the same responsibility when they invest your deposits. They can invest locally — in loans to help their neighbors and local communities.

Or they can ship your deposits to another area — which doesn't help you or the local economy at all.

We're your independent community bank. We're locally owned and operated and we invest in you and your neighbors and in our local communities.

That's how we vote on the investment question...

period he is abiding by the ZBA's decision. If he had challenged it within the 20 day appeal period this board still could act and say okay, we're going to give it subject to receiving those appropriate permits from the ZBA."

Venincasa said he had not filed an appeal as yet.

The board then proceeded to go through the four permit requests.

1. reduced parking permit.

Lewandowski explained that the Venincasa's plan shows 17 parking spaces. Thirty-five are required (two parking spaces for each unit, 9 units, = 18 and one parking space per 200 square feet of gross leasable floor area - 3254 divided by 200 equals 17).

Venincasa said he was requesting reduced parking because he has adequate parking spaces there now. "I had looked into getting more parking and I had verbal commitment approvals on the parking but I was not able to get it in writing," he said. "I will still proceed to obtain those. I do not need two parking spaces in practical use for my building. As a matter of fact, I am providing parking for both of my abutters (Elm Theater and Donovan's Pub)."

Board member Arthur Moore asked Venincasa, "Say I had an apartment upstairs and I came home Saturday night when the theatre was going. Where do I park my car? Who do I go to to get that car out of my parking space?"

"The people who work there (in the building) work 8 to 5 and the people who live there work 8 to 5 somewhere else," Venincasa replied. "Therefore, their car is not there when the space is needed for the office space. By having complimentary work schedules we only need half as much parking as would normally be required."

Lewandowski questioned the proximity of some of the parking spaces to the river. She asked if Venincasa had spoken with the Conservation Commission?

"They said before I repave I have to file with them," Venincasa replied.

"So we don't even know whether you could even have those spaces?" Lewandowski asked.

"Those are existing spaces, I didn't create them," Venincasa replied.

"Before they were nonconforming because they were existing," Lewandowski explained. "Because you filed for a new permit everything has to come back into conformance. They (Conservation Commission) would have to give their okay as to whether or not you could put parking in there."

"I didn't realize I had to address conservation issues," Venincasa said.

Lewandowski noted that the by-laws state that no parking area shall be located within 50 horizontal feet of the normal bank of a stream or river.

2. Special Density permit

Lewandowski explained that special density means that 20% of the lot must be maintained with lawns, shrubs, and vegetation. "Where would you provide vegetation and shrubbery," she asked Venincasa.

"There's already a substantial amount that's on the bank of the river and actually I own to the middle of the river," Venincasa replied. "And between the building and the sidewalk I have an area of shrubs."

"Would that be considered 20% of the total land area?" Lewandowski asked.

"If you count all that, yes," said Venincasa.

Lewandowski then questioned the lot line on Venincasa's plan. "We don't have a true plan, it doesn't show the end of the property line."

"You're right," Venincasa said, "it's deceiving, I'm sorry. Make that a condition and I'll provide a plan that shows the edge of the property line. I apologize for the misconception on the plan. I do meet the 20% and I will provide further proof on that."

3 - Multi-family special permit for four additional apartments.

Lewandowski asked Venincasa if the request for four additional apartments was above and beyond what is already there "or is that for the ones that you put in that should not have been there?"

"I have some units that are rough-petitioned and that is for those units there," Venincasa replied. "There are five units in the existing building right now; five one-bedroom units."

4 - Site Plan Review

Board member Lillian Moore asked, "Without the addition of those four one-bedroom units, the building permit is all in order for parking and everything else?"

"Yes," Kniskern replied.

"If they were all in order before, why are we looking for 35 spaces?" Moore asked.

"Because he added two additional floors on top of what was originally proposed to the building inspector," Hulseberg replied.

"If he had built exactly what the permit said, he wouldn't be here now," Kniskern added.

"Your board has the authority to waive the amount of parking spaces that are required per unit and per square footage," Venincasa argued.

"We do have the right," Kniskern said. "But, you're there now, and everything is hunky dory with you and your neighbors. What happens if you're not there any more and your neighbors change and you have a dispute going on. They're not going to move a car for you just because you've got tenants."

"If that was the case," Venincasa replied, "I could close off the parking lot to the theatre."

"The theatre parking on the side is the theater's," Kniskern said.

"They can't get to it without going through our property," Francis Venincasa said.

"I feel this way," Arthur Moore said. "If I have an apartment and I come home and some son-of-a-gun is in my parking space and I've got to wait to have that guy move that car out, I'm going to be upset. Now I've got to go into that theatre and say, "Ron (McCrohon, theater owner), will you please move a car, and I've got to wait until he moves the car."

"It's only two hours, 7 to 9," Francis Venincasa said.

The public hearing was then closed.

Arthur Moore made a motion to allow the reduced parking. His motion was seconded by Lillian Moore. The motion was denied on a 3-2 vote with Lewandowski, Kniskern and Dotson voting in the negative.

Lillian Moore made a motion to approve the special density permit; seconded by Arthur Moore. The motion was again denied on a 3-2 vote.

Lillian Moore made a motion to approve the multi-family special permit; seconded by Arthur Moore. The motion was denied on a 3-2 vote.

Lillian Moore made a motion to approve the site plan review; seconded by Arthur Moore. The motion was denied on a 3-2 vote.

After being turned down for all four permits, Venincasa said, "Based on the fact that everything was denied based on parking, does that mean that the parking should be closed because it failed the site plan review?"

"First of all," Lewandowski replied, "you have to decide what you're going to do with the building. The building was not approved so it's going to make a difference in the number of parking spaces you need. I have no idea what you're going to do."

"Basically we've got a perfect zero right across the board," Venincasa said. "So basically the site plan did not meet your satisfaction. I'd like to know specifically is this unsafe, should this parking lot be altered, should it be closed down?"

Lewandowski replied, "We don't know where we stand on that, do we? We don't have any correspondence from conservation. I kept telling you that. We don't know whether you're in line or whether you're not. We don't know where the back line is of your property. Because you kicked in the site plan with the addition we don't know what is required for parking because we don't know what you're going to do with the rest of the building."

Venincasa has 20 days to appeal the Planning Board's decision.
